Built in 1856, this antique home for sale in Mattapoisett is stunning inside and out. Indeed, the property's center chimney, portico, and fireplaces are quite the architectural gems, but it might be the backyard that truly steals the show.

At just 0.48 acres, the meticulously landscaped yard packs a punch. It makes room for a heated in-ground pool, a jacuzzi, an outdoor kitchen, a guest cottage, and outdoor shower, and a central fire pit. This is all overlooked from a two-level wraparound porch, making outdoor entertaining a breeze.

Inside the home, find a dining room with period built-ins and millwork, a fireplaced living room, and a kitchen with top-of-the-line appliances. Upstairs, a master suite with a sizable private bath tops it off—well, that and the 10-minute walk to the beach, that is. ■
